

Stress analysis in a patchy-particle based hydrogel simulation

Francisco Javier Vazquez-Tavares<sup>1</sup>, Felipe Benavides<sup>1</sup>, Caludia Ferreiro-Cordova<sup>2</sup>, Antonio Ortiz-Ambriz<sup>1</sup>

Description of the model

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of this block. To be a place holder of text.

Interaction between patches

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the

Simulation protocols

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of this block. To be a place holder of text.

Results

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of this block. To be a place holder of text.

Conclusion

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of this block. To be a place holder of text.

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of

References

A paragraph with explanation of the patchy methodology and some cites in which they used the same or similar methodology. There will be more sentences and that stuff, so I write these words to fill out the space. Also this other sentece to add more text and space and that is the general idea of this block. To be a place holder of text.

